A high-angle photograph of a bathtub with a mosaic tile interior. The mosaic consists of small, square tiles in shades of green and white, arranged in a checkered pattern. The bathtub is set into a larger tiled floor and walls. A white, curved object, possibly a shower head or a piece of plumbing, is visible on the left side of the tub. A drain is located at the bottom center of the tub. The word "MOSAIC" is overlaid in large, white, sans-serif capital letters in the center of the image.
